WEBINARS FOR WOMEN IN ENGINEERING AND TECHNOLOGY SPRING 2020

The Advancing Women in Engineering and Technology Project has designed a unique set of webinars to support women in engineering and technology. Each webinar will address an important topic and there will be opportunities to discuss openly, problem solve together and learn new tools to help women navigate the engineering and technology landscape effectively.

Our project webinars are always free. We hope you will join us over the next couple of months!

If you are unable to attend, vimeo recordings will be available on our website.
